BILL SNORT IN THE WHITE HOUSE.
The Bad News From Indianapolis—
How Harrison Receives It—What Harrison Thinks About the Indianapolis Republicans—Snort's Letter to His Young Friend.

Alex. H. Sweet in Texas Springs.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.
MY DEAR JOHNNY—The following conversation with the President will explain itself:
"Mr. President, did you ever hear of Indianapolis?"
"Of course, Col. Snort; I am not ignorant of the Scriptures."
"In some respects, Mr. President,
you remind me of Rehazzar."
"Neither of you seemed to catch on to the handwriting on the wall."
"I suppose, then, you are the prophe-tized Snort—I mean Daniel."
"Rehazzar, Harrison you have hit it.
Here is some of the handwriting
on the wall," said I, holding up an extra in which appeared in large letters:
"INDIANAPOLIS GONE DEMOCRATIC."
Harrison glanced at it, and, in the language of Scripture, "Then the king's countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the joint of his loins were loosed, and his knees smote one against the other."
—Daniel, chapter five, sixth verse.

"And that night, Rehazzar, the King of the Chaldeans, was slain," quoted Harrison, solemnly.
"Quite so, Mr. President, it will turn out otherwise."
"Col. Snort," said Harrison, taking down the big Bible, "do you remember the subsequent proceeding after Rehazzar was retired from circulation?"
"I do not, Mr. President."
"Let me read them to you. I'd like to pose as Daniel, myself, for a change. Listen! 'And Darius the Median, took the kingdom, after Harrison—I mean after Rehazzar.'"
"Who do you suppose Darius is?"
I asked.

"I should say that it means Dave Hill will receive the Democratic nomination, and be elected," replied
Harrison with a sigh.
"Is there any prophecy about what happened to Hill Snort?" I replied.
"Yes, indeed," said the President,
reading: "It pleased Dave Hill, or rather Darius, to set three rears over the kingdom, of whom Daniel, or rather Bill Snort, was first, that the princes should give account unto him."—Daniel, 1st and 2d verses.

That undoubtedly means that you will flip back into the Democratic ranks and be Secretary of State under Darius the Median, alias Dave Hill."

"Mr. President," said I, not relishing
such personalities, "what do you think about these Indianapolis Republicans?"
"The more I know about them the more my head is out to dogs," said Harrison, bitterly.

"Indianapolis is not the only place
where the Democrats have crawled up on the Republicans, while they are in a swimming, and carried off their clothes. There is Montana, for instance," I said, consolingly.
"Yes, and my son flies assured me that Montana was safe."

"Once more, Mr. President, let me warn you not to put any confidence
in what I say."
"You think his judgment is bad?"
"No, he simply lies. If men's tongues were bored in them
every time they lied, as was the case
in the middle ages, Russia tongue
would look like a porous plaster.
His tongue is the cause of your defection from Montana. In Newark, New Jersey, we have likewise been scooped."

"This don't look much like a third term," said Harrison, shading his head.
"Have you read the latest returns from Connecticut, Mr. President?"
"No," replied Harrison, "it's too much like looking into an undertaker's window."

"Yes, Mr. President, verily these are perilous times. As the editor of the New York Herald-Vindicator I am kept so busy viewing with alarm the mistake of this administration that I don't get time to do any pointing with pride."
"I have considerable hope on the moderate non-partisan element of our party."

"Don't rely on them, Mr. President.
The Mugwump is the camel in the Republican tent."
"Why do you compare the Mugwump to a dromedary?"
"Because of his propensity to get his back up and knock out our usages, which are something like a quiet mind, more easily lost than gained."

"Well, what are we going to do?"
"I have a scheme by which, you can regain your lost popularity."
"What is it?"
"Heretofore, Mr. President, you have not been affable to visitors. For instance, when the New York Haselton called, you snubbed them. When the next presidential game is played you will go out on first."

"It's too late now," Harrison signed.
"Again, when a delegation of the Reconstructed Order of Improved Red Muffs called, you didn't offer to shake hands with them. There are 500,000 Red Muffs who will vote the Democratic ticket next time."

"I have no patience with all this secret mummery."
"When Jones, of Milwaukee, G. C.
and M. E. C. F. L. T. of Most Pu-sant and Mysterious Peruvian Bark Peddlers, paid his respects, you never said 'their ones.'"
"Who was he?"

"Great Scott! Don't you know that although he is a little hampered down and a little of a shaver, he is also Grand Cyclops and Most Exalted Current Flax of the Inner Temple? His influence is unbounded in the Order. That's where you lost half a million votes by not setting
'em up."

"Anything else?"
"When the Odd Fellows wanted
you to lay a corner stone, you wrote to the Most Worshipful Past Grand Brother H. H. H. that you had something else to do. Another million votes lost there."
"Col. Snort, do you expect me to join all these Ku-Klux Klans?"
"It would be a good idea. Harrison, for you need it in your business."

"Well, I'll resign first. This ad-

"Once more, Mr. Harrison, I say you need it in your business."
"If you were a married man, Snort,
you wouldn't risk being 'out to the lodge' fifteen nights in the week. Your wife wouldn't let you have anything to do with this secret order monkey business."
"But you can at least treat them
civilly when they call."
"I suppose I could manage to strain a point, now the Democrats are electing their candidates all over the country, otherwise I would see them—elsewhere."
"A right Mr. President, we will begin at once. Next week there will be 2000 Knight Templars in Washington, and you must show them
some little courtesy."
"There are a good many of them in Indianapolis. I suppose I'll have to," said Harrison.
"President Harrison, I am one myself, I too, need it in my business.
I am Sir Bill Snort, Past Grand
Commander," etc., etc.
"The device you say, Well, Sir William, as a matter of accommodation to you, I'll receive them and shake hands with as many as I can.
How do they usually vote, anyhow?"
"Most of them are Democrats; but we will change all that."
This will explain, Johnny, why the White House was decorated with and without. For two hours the rises stood in the Blue Parlor, while Sir Bill Snort in his uniform made the introductions to the President.

THE GOOSE-BONE.

The Winter Will be Long-Drawn Out,
and Into It Will Fall Some of the Coldest Days Known.

[Louisville Times.]
The story of the winter as told by the bone is not a pleasant sight to contemplate. Storms and blizzards will be frequent, and just how far Louisville and this vicinity will escape the wrath of the weather can not be figured out with any accuracy, but from the wide spreading of the dark coloring on the bone it is evident that at times stormy and severe weather will prevail very generally throughout the latitude. A gentleman who has for many years been a close student of the bone says, "that in the early days of January the mercury will go lower than on the memorable first of January, 1864."
While such a reading is clearly gathered from the bone, it is also equally plain that there will not be any protracted spell of weather. The winter will go along into history as one of change and blizzards, and falling weather will fill up the majority of the days.

The bone thus pictures the passage
of the months:
NOVEMBER
will come in bright and pleasant.
The first storm period in this month
commences about the 7th, and continues with more or less severity until after the 20th. During this time there will be some wet and ugly days, and the weather, though at times cold, for the season will not be severe. Falling weather will not be characteristic of November days.
Heavy local storms may be looked for during the last week, but the marks
on the bone, which are in much confusion, do not indicate the great extent to their disturbances.

DECEMBER
The storm period noted in the closing days of November will die out during the first days of this month, and some pleasant weather may be looked for. The most severe period of the month commences about the 15th, and continues until about the 25th. The indications for the Christmas holidays are for clearing and brighter weather. During the period from the 15th to the 22d will occur some of the ugliest weather of the month, and to this time will fall

ues and named the lowest prices

the coldest days, and a very low average of temperature will mark the entire period. The closing days of the month will be clearing and may inspire the hope that winter is broken, but alas for human expectations, the hardest weather is yet to follow.
JANUARY
will come in like young spring, but right here the marks on the bone come in to great confusion, and the general coloring is very dark, some spots being almost black. This storm period commences about the 9th, and runs almost to the 20th, and is one of the most clearly indicated on the bone.
The general character of the weather
will be falling, and into this period will fall some of the coldest days that have occurred within the memory of the oldest. About the 15th general storms and severe blizzards may be looked for, and the very heavy coloring of the bone at this point indicates that storms in this period will be pretty general through the latitude.
This is the period to watch, as it more than any other concerns all. There is nothing on the bone to indicate territory or country, but the feels safe in predicting that the storm which centers about the 15th of the month will be most severely felt east of the Mississippi river. There storms, it is safe to say, will be particularly heavy on the lakes. Following this period is the promise of very pleasant weather, and the month
will go out quiet and calm.
FEBRUARY
will come in bright and clear, and the indications are that the little groundhog will see his shadow and thus corroborate the goose-bone in the prediction of a late spring. The marks on this part of the bone are in much confusion, thus indicating rapid atmospheric changes. Pleasant and cold days will alternate and in the middle of the month will fall
some of the coldest of the season.
Following this period will be many pleasant days, but the month will go out with a growl, bringing March in like a lion, and had, ugly weather is likely to continue for the first five or six days of the month.
Many inquires are made as to how to select and read the bone. This information has been repeatedly given in The Times, and those interested should be familiar with it. One thing to be remembered is that these predictions are not hedged about by any lines of longitude, but sweep around the globe within the latitude or five degrees on either side of the place where the goose was hatched and the weather predicted cannot be foretold for any particular section of country.

To the citizens and afflicted of the Valley—I deem it my duty to give this recommendation without any solicitation on the part of the dealers in said medicine. In St. Joseph, Missouri, I was afflicted with an aggravated case of kidney trouble, and by accident I was offered a drink of Wm. Radam's Microbe Killer. After taking one gallon in four weeks I felt like a new man. I can freely recommend it to any one having the above trouble. H. E. ROBINSON.

MR. Wm. RADAM:
Dear Sir—Your Microbe Killer, I
find, is a splendid thing. Can I say the Agency here? My little boy that was afflicted with worms is cured and getting fat and rosy. My father is also using your medicine, and is improving very fast. Very respectfully,

CHAS. M. MEACHAM, Editor.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1890.

HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY.

A live and growing city of 8,000 inhabitants, situated in a county of 40,000. The Louisville and Nashville has two lines of railroad in the county. The largest tobacco growing county in the world. Wheat, corn, hay, coal, live stock and fruits produced in large quantities. The city has four banks with an aggregate capital of $1,000,000. A planing mill and wagon factory, three carriage factories, lime factory, tobacco manufactory, two foundries, three brick yards, broom factory, steam laundry, ice factory, two large flouring mills in the city and several in the county. Splendid driving park and one opera house. Five turpentine canneries in Hopkinsville. Building and Loan Association, Commercial Club, telephone exchange, number of streets and houses and city lighted by gas. Macadamized streets and brick sidewalks all over the city. Eleven churches, two colleges, a high school and the finest system of public schools, white and colored, in the State. Western Kentucky Lunatic Asylum with a population of 800, two miles east of the city. A $100,000 court house with town clock in the center. A fine fire department and a company of State Guards. Little River furnishes an adequate supply of water for all purposes. Real estate and rents cheap. Fine opening for wooden mill, port packing establishment, fruit canning, tanning and many other enterprises. Climate mild and invigorating and exceedingly healthy.

The Cronin case is now under headway in Chicago.

Miss Wilese Davis has gone to Europe for her health.

Another Tascott has been captured, this time in Philadelphia.

Annie Price, Barren's fat woman, is dead aged, 47 years. Her husband was an albino.

Tanner's related pension office employees are all to be dismissed from the pension department.

The Crowe Prince of Greece and Princess Sophie, of Germany, were married Sunday, at Athens.

Of course Hafford has not resigned. Eljah may die, but he will never resign. He is not built that way.

The anti-Masonic Republicans of Virginia have nominated a state ticket headed by Jno. F. Lewis.

Dr. Isaac H. Keller, one of the best-known physicians in Louisville, died suddenly of heart disease last week.

A cowboy attempted to kill Bob Ford, the slayer of Jesse James, in a Walsburg, Colo., barroom last week.

The registration in Cincinnati closed Saturday night. Only 60,000 voters were registered, against 60,000 last year.

War has again broken out in Samoa. The forces of Tamasese and Malietoa, the rival kings, have had a battle in which several warriors were killed.

The business of eluding officers heretofore conducted with much success by W. T. Brame, will hereafter be continued by the firm of Brame & Smith. Headquarters still a matter of doubt.

A well-informed politician, who has traveled over the State and seen the contest for the State, says the contest will narrow down to Moore, Martin and Longmore and predicts that one of the two first named will get the nomination.

County Judge Lewis, of Harlan county, is at the head of a posse numbering 65 men, trying to capture or suppress the Howard faction. They have had one battle, in which two or three of Howard's men were killed. Howard's forces are reported to be demoralized, while the law and order side is gaining recruits rapidly.

Hopkinsville, for the second time within recent years, captures, in the person of Mr. Wm. W. Clarke, the office of Grand Master of the Masonic lodge in Kentucky. Mr. Clarke is a young man of intelligence and fitness and will wear gracefully the honor that has been bestowed upon him. The same position was filled by the late Dr. M. M. Fairleigh a few years before his death.

The Chicago Tribune has prepared a table showing the result of a canvass on the speakership contest. The first choice of the 100 Republicans is given as follows: Rood 51, McKinley 51, Cannon 31, Burdick 13, Henderson 12. The second choice of the supporters of the last three, so far as given, is Reed 11, McKinley 25. Necessary to nominate 55. If these figures are reliable, McKinley will very probably be the speaker.

Mayor Jacob, of Louisville, is in a row with the Board of Aldermen and made an unsuccessful attempt to adjourn that body last week to prevent the election of a Sinking Fund Commissioner to take the place of one of his favorites. The Mayor was openly defied and the election proceeded with. The Democratic papers of the city criticized the Mayor's unwarranted assumption of power in the most unmeasured terms.

They adopted a novel method for making the Democratic nominations for county officers in Jessamine county. Canvassing boards were appointed to make a house-to-house canvass of their respective precincts. The work required eleven days and was finished Oct. 24. They carried ballot boxes and a register. The vote showed a gain of 300. W. H. Phillips was nominated for county judge over J. W. Duncan by 64 majority. R. S. Perry for clerk; S. F. McVine for assessor; J. M. Brumfield for jailer.

THE KIDS IN COUNCIL.

The Young Men of the Press Meet at Bowling Green.

The Young Men's Editorial Association of the Kentucky Press, met at Potter's Opera House, Bowling Green, Friday was called to order by the President and an organization was effected, after which the names of the members were enrolled and business matters of more important transactions.

The following papers were represented by the young men named: Frank Bell, New Era, Hopkinsville.

Joe Williams, Clipper, Midway. E. C. Walton, Interior Journal, Staeford.

E. Roy Moore, Times, Adairville. Phil King, Progress, Elkton. L. E. McKay, Courier, Taylorville. Harry Tandy, Kentuckian, Hopkinsville.

Andrew J. Casey, Herald, Russellville. W. S. Sterrett, Coloeal, Whitesville.

T. G. Moss, Press, Lexington. J. N. Saunders, News, Springfield. C. E. McCormack, Pioneer, Shepherdsville.

Richard Godson, Clipper, Midway. J. L. McKernan, Times, Adairville. Harry McCarty, Journal, Nicholasville.

T. G. Stovall, Independent, Elizabethtown. Neel Glenn, Hustler, Madisonville. F. Fletcher Poynter, Sentinel, Shelbyville.

John Vreeland, Farmer's Home Journal, Louisville. J. R. Collier, Favorite, Frankfort. C. D. Welch, Courier, Cynthiana. S. M. Linebaugh, Ledger, Russellville.

Starling Marshall, Journal, Henderson. Lee Duncan, News, Elizabethtown. The three papers read during the meeting were: "Independent Journalism" by T. G. Moss, of the Lexington Press. "Old Files" by Frank Bell, of the Hopkinsville New Era. "A Journalistic Jerk" by Will S. Sterrett, of the Whitesville Colonist.

On Friday night a fashionable hop was participated in by the visitors and the young people of Bowling Green society, which was a very successful and pleasurable affair.

The association adjourned to meet in Louisville next year. The schools and other points of interest about the city were visited by the Association between the business sessions. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: R. E. Moraling, star, President, Harry McCarty Vice-President, Ed. C. Walton, Secretary, Neel Glenn, Treasurer.

Elections Next Week. The following elections will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 5: Pennsylvania will elect State Treasurer.

Ohio will elect Governor and State officers. Virginia will elect Governor and State officers.

Mississippi will elect Governor and State officers. Maryland will elect Comptroller and Attorney General.

Massachusetts will elect Governor and State officers. Nebraska will elect a Supreme Court Judge and two Regents of the University.

Iowa will elect Governor and Lieutenant Governor and other officers. New York will elect State officers except Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

Scribner's Magazine for November contains a third African article—a valuable addition to the notable papers of Professor Henry Drummond and Joseph Thomson; a discussion of some startling problems in International Law affecting the United States in the event of another European war; the description of an old Spanish university by a well-known novelist; an explanation of the relation of electricity to health by a high medical authority; an army surgeon's account of the modern Sanitary Corps which relieves the sick and wounded; and interesting essays, fiction, and poems. Most of the articles are richly illustrated.

I. W. HARPER'S OLD NELSON COUNTY KENTUCKY WHISKY has been recognized for years as one of the most famous and finest whiskeys placed before the American public. Like every article of fineness it caters not for the bulk of consumers, to whom one whiskey tastes but little different from another, but for the appreciation of the connoisseurs only. It is, in short, a gentleman's beverage and intended for gentlemen only. Edmundson & Long, sole agents Hopkinsville, Ky.

The Mesquite Graded Lodge meeting in Louisville this year was the most important for years. The following officers were installed: W. W. Clarke, Hopkinsville, Ky., Grand Master; Charles H. Fisher, Covington, D. G. M.; Jas. A. McKenke, Oak Grove, Ky., G. S. W.; J. S. Smith, Richmond, G. J. W.; J. H. Leathers, Louisville, G. T.; H. B. Grant, Louisville, G. S.; Rev. H. R. Coleman, Louisville, G. C.; J. T. Davidson, Louisville, Grand Tyler.

The Graded Lodge of odd Fellows, is session at Louisville, elected the following officers for the ensuing year: W. H. Cox, Mayville, G. M.; C. C. Renford, Covington, D. G. M.; W. G. Simpson, Owenton, G. W.; Wm. White, Louisville, Grand Secretary; Geo. W. Morris, Louisville, Grand Treasurer; R. G. Elliott, Lexington, Grand Representative.

The young giraffe born in Cincinnati last week, lived only a few days. The Campbell seems to be the healthiest and most vigorous zoological attraction in the Buckeye State this year and there is a good chance that one of them will be elected governor.

The Chrysanthemum Show.

(Clarksville Progress)

At the last meeting of the Ladies Monumental Association it was resolved to open the chrysanthemum show at Evergreen Lodge formally with speeches and music on Monday, Nov. 4, at 3 p. m. Hon. J. E. Washington and Hon. Jas. A. McKenke are expected to make addresses on the occasion.

For two weeks following the show will be open, some lady of the association being in charge each day to receive visitors and admission fee. Admission 10 cents.

The following ladies will be in charge on the days here specified: Mrs. Thos. Jackson, Nov. 4.

Mrs. Anna Payne, Nov. 5. Mrs. John Pettus, Nov. 6.

Mrs. Lulu Dougherty, Nov. 7. Mrs. Wm. Bogle, Nov. 8.

Mrs. J. W. Keese, Nov. 9. Mrs. Thos. Major, Nov. 11.

Mrs. Will Elliott, Nov. 12. Mrs. Thos. Hyman, Nov. 13.

Mrs. T. R. Isaacson, Nov. 14. Mrs. S. J. Coffman, Nov. 15.

Mrs. Joe Bolille, Nov. 16. On Friday, 8th, "School Day," all children will be admitted for five cents.

Arrangements are also being made for excursions from the adjacent cities and towns and on the days of these excursions a committee of ladies will receive the guests at Evergreen Lodge, another committee will furnish lunch to all visitors during the day.

THE CRAFT. W. W. Martin, one of the editors of the Edwille Gazette, is a candidate for sergeant-at-arms of the next house of representatives.

C. B. Hill has retired from the Edwille Enterprise. C. C. Reed who now has charge of the paper will enlarge and improve it.

A. E. Nell, of the Columbia Herald, was married a few days ago to Miss Dora Hunsinger, of Bosworth, Mo.

The Princeton Banner will have a drawing for distributing presents Nov. 2. Don't do it any more, Eaves, there is no money in it. We have tried it.

Mr. F. R. Feland has sold the Anderson News to its former owner, Mr. J. F. Botwell, and retires from journalism.

A new daily paper, called the Evening News, was started in Memphis yesterday.

Of interest to the Ladies. Charming Mistle Bernard Chase created quite a furor during her tour through California last season, and cleared nearly $30,000 on the trip. She spent over $14,000 on diamonds alone, and is said to have given over $10,000 for a magnificent necklace.

The necklace is composed of a circle of eighteen large pure white stones, neither one of them having the slightest resemblance of a flaw, while from the circle hangs a magnificent cross, composed of eleven stones much larger than any in the circle, the center stone being a larger and purer stone than any owned by the famous "Alvin Joelin." In the last act of "Little Cquette" Miss Chase will wear all of these dazzling beauties. It is a sight to be remembered, and one which our ladies should not fail to witness.

Dawson To Be Boomed. A syndicate or company of Pittsburgh, Boston and New York gentlemen are at Dawson buying all the land around town. They have bought and paid for 3,000 acres, and are on a track for 30,000 more between Dawson and Dalton. They say that it is the finest prospect for coal they ever saw and some of it equal to the Pittsburgh coal. They will begin arrangements for opening up coal mines on a large scale soon and run a switch from Dawson out to their coal fields.

An Oil and Gas Co., have taken options on 22,000 acres near town and are looking to bore for gas and oil in 60 days, with fine prospects for same. A big boom is anticipated for Dawson now.

Mr. James W. Yancey, who recently purchased the Burbridge House, on Clay street, between 9th and 10th, will move his family into it a few days, but it will not be thrown open to the public until after the first of November. Mr. Yancey is repainting and otherwise improving it, and before opening will furnish it with new beds, bedding and furniture throughout. Mr. Yancey is not a novice by any means in hotel keeping and will make his house quite popular.

Those of our readers who believe in goose-bone predictions will find some interesting reading on the first page of to-day's paper. The coming winter will, no doubt, be a very severe one. Cold weather has set in several weeks ahead, the farmers report that corn husks are very heavy, apple peels are very thick, and a few flakes of snow fell last Saturday. The coal dealers will, no doubt, do a good business for several months.

Hon. Allen G. Thurman was overcome by weakness and had to cut short a political speech at Cincinnati Friday night. The "Old Roman's" age is beginning to tell upon him at last and the leadership of the Ohio Democratic must soon pass to a younger man.

The young giraffe born in Cincinnati last week, lived only a few days. The Campbell seems to be the healthiest and most vigorous zoological attraction in the Buckeye State this year and there is a good chance that one of them will be elected governor.

A BRIGAND PRIEST.

A Loyal and Patriotic Buddhist League for Purposes of Hubbery.

The most disturbed portion of the province of Chekiang embraces some districts within the province of Hangchow, which border upon Fokien and Anhui. The configuration of the country, which is intersected by rugged and covered with dense jungle, affords a safe retreat for hands of robbers, whose doings have caused much trouble to the authorities. Some two months ago a number of desperadoes, headed by a strolling Buddhist priest, made their appearance in the Linan district, and having procured a supply of arms, engaged in preparations for an insurrectionary movement. The military authorities, having obtained secret information of their intentions, moved troops against them, and a battle ensued, in which the priest and his men, who were armed with foreign muskets, made an obstinate stand against the opposing force, but was obliged in the end to seek safety in flight. He and a number of his followers were subsequently captured, and in their possession were found an oath of allegiance to the emperor, a piece of red silk, false seals, and other formal emblems of authority. The priest's evidence, as given at his trial, was to the following effect: He was thirty-three years of age, a native of Anhui, and had neither father nor mother alive. Being without family connections, he came to Chekiang in quest of a better life, and took to a roving life. He and twelve other men whom he met in his travels formed themselves into a sworn brotherhood under the title of the "Loyal and Patriotic League," of which he was to form the head. Each member was to invite his friends to join the cause, and an entrance fee of one dollar was levied to provide for the working expenses. Their motto was: "Help the poor and bespall the rich, join heart and hand and play the part of valiant men." Being afraid of apprehension by the authorities, who were keeping a sharp lookout for him, he decided to cover his expenses on the way, but as soon as he got to the foot of the hill on which the temple was situated he gave up all thoughts of returning and proceeded to join his former companions. Their number, however, was too small to organize a successful rising, and to give the movement an important character he purchased for himself an unbridled theatrical costume, and procured false moustaches and other devices by which he worked upon the imaginations of the simple rustics. In the end he was captured, after a severe struggle, by the imperial troops. He has been summarily decapitated under the regulations promulgated for the punishment of local brigands, and as a warning to others his head will be exposed in the district which was the scene of his offenses. A number of his confederates have been similarly dealt with, and the officers who effected their arrest have been recommended to the throne for the bestowal of fitting rewards.—Peking Gazette.

The Curfew at Albany, N. Y. There is a custom in Albany which has been maintained for two hundred years, which I presume isn't known in any other city of its size in the Union. The curfew tolls promptly and to the half-eighth of a second at nine each night. The City Hall tower has a deep-toned bell, connected by electric wires with Dudley Observatory, and it strikes a stroke of one at nine o'clock, night and morning. All private clocks and watches are set by it, and it is a curious revelation to the theatrical companies that visit there to see nearly every body in the audience pull out his or her watch and compare a preconcerted moment and look at it. The effect is a very novel. It nearly upset John McCullough and Mary Anderson when they played here together some years ago. McCullough had just seen the air-drawn dagger, and he thought the audience were all going to ring the chestnut bell on him. The effect is also very funny in the churches. But the same bell also tolls the fire alarm, and by numbers of strokes signals the district where the fire is. It is customary on these occasions for the good pastors to remark: "If any one feels called by that warning there will be no objection to his going to drawling," and there have been occasions when a number did so.—N. Y. Star.

A learned physician says: "Nothing is more irritating to a cough than to cough. If you have a cough, you must abstain as much as possible from coughing." That's so. And if you break your leg, you mustn't limp. Nothing irritates a broken leg like limping around on it. Oh, there's nothing in the world so fascinating as the study of medical science when you get the combination.—Advance.

The Louisville Times of Sunday has this: Collector John Feland, who is here looking after official and political matters, thinks Maj. Breathitt will be appointed Postmaster at Hopkinsville, Mr. Watson at Owensboro and Overby at Henderson.

The time of the Owensboro Postmaster expires November 5.

Mr. Geo. T. Boddie, of Boddie, this county, has secured the local agency at his point for Kendrick, Pettus & Co., tobacco warehousemen, Clarksville. Mr. Boddie is an excellent young business man and the firm has made a lucky hit in securing his services as a local agent.

CREAM OF NEWS.

A Blaze Thursday Night.

The old Episcopal church building on the corner of Fifth and Virginia streets, was burned about midnight Thursday night. The fire company for some reason failed to respond to repeated alarms until the building, a frame structure, was entirely destroyed. Some years ago the house was sold by the Episcopal church to the late M. W. Grissam, who converted it into a grocery store. Of late it has been occupied by J. S. Bryan, as a storage room for lake ice, but at the time of the fire was not occupied at all. Some stables attached to the rear end were in use and some young men who were coming from a party were among the first to see the fire and arrived on the scene just in time to release several horses fastened up in the stables. The conflagration drew the usual crowd, a good many of the young men giving themselves away by appearing with their collars and neckties on, showing that they had not been to bed. The property was owned by Mrs. M. W. Grissam and was worth about $1,200 or $1,500, with insurance on it to the amount of $1,000 of one of Mercer & Mercer's companies. There had been no fire in the building for months and the origin of the conflagration is a mystery. It was either the result of the careless handling of matches by some intruder or the work of a firebug.

An Old Milestone.

At the corner of Ninth and Coleman streets, on what used to be known as the Duanevian corner, there lies half buried in the ground one of the old landmarks and landmarks of primitive Hopkinsville. It is the old triangular mile-post marking the forks of the Nashville and Clarksville roads. On one side was "To Nashville 65 miles" and on another "To Clarksville 25 miles." This old stone long since served its day of usefulness and with the incoming of the iron horse was first allowed to fall down and then to be forgotten. The top is slightly chipped off, but the sides and lettering are still in a good state of preservation. The whole aspect of the surroundings about the once historic "forks of the road" has now been changed. Streets have laid off where once there was nothing but an open stretch of common. Houses have been built and this is now a thickly settled portion of a populous city. Even the old Duanevian house has passed into decay and has been torn away and upon its site is now being erected a handsome two-story brick dwelling-house. Such circumstances as this must bring up reflections and reminders of the inevitable changes of time. Nothing is more certain than that time marches ahead with steady pace. No matter what we may do, and no matter how we may strive to keep ourselves up to date, we are always a generation or more behind the times.

More Store Rooms.

Mr. John Moynon will commence early next Spring the erection of four store rooms on the vacant lot, corner of 9th and Virginia streets. The plans have been drawn and the building will be quite an addition to the business part of the city. It is the purpose of Mr. Moynon to build two stories, the lower one for store rooms, while above will be several offices and a hall 75x90 feet. It is highly probable that a third story will be added. The hall will be used for dancing, armory, etc. Mr. Moynon is one of our enterprising merchants, who has made his money in Hopkinsville, and proposes to do his share in improving the city.

A Dangerous Fall.

William Griffin fell from his engine near Earlington Wednesday last sustaining serious injuries. No bones were broken, but he was bruised in a horrible manner and was taken to his boarding house in a helpless condition. The train was running at the rate of 30 miles an hour when he stepped out upon the side of the engine to go to the front part to make some repairs and lost his balance and fell. Mr. Griffin is a very popular young engineer and had charge of the switch engine at his place for some time.

Route Was Routed.

Several mornings ago a negro named Henry Ronte was caught in the act of stealing corn from Mrs. M. D. Syper's field, by Mrs. Keel and one of Mrs. Syper's daughters who went out to investigate a suspicious noise. Ronte took to his heels and Mrs. Keel fired three shots at him as he fled, but unfortunately did not bring him down. He was arraigned for trial Saturday and elected to serve a term of thirty days in the geological department of the county government. He is now engaged in fracturing limestone.

A Clear Case of Murder.

The inquest over the dead body of W. T. Williams, was held at Trenton the same night of the killing—Oct. 23. Five eye-witnesses were examined and all concurred in the statement that the killing was unprovoked and inexcusable. The verdict rendered was in accordance with the facts already published. Smith has been at large ever since the killing and his whereabouts is unknown. A reward of $400 has been offered by the citizens of Trenton and Pembroke for his apprehension.

City Court News.

Geo. Harris, tramp, given twenty minutes in which to leave the city. He left.

Monroe Jones, col. petit larceny, ten days in work house.

Jas. Word, disorderly conduct, fined $7 and costs.

Tom Hopkins, drunk, fined $5 and costs.

The first live crabs ever brought to the city were received the latter part of last week by J. T. Savage.

Hundred of people who had never seen crabs before stopped and looked at them, and many were the surmises as to what they were.

The water from the new well at the Asylum has been analyzed by two Louisville chemists and by Drs. Stiles and Rodgers of this city and all concur in the opinion that it is very fine water. The pump will arrive in a few days when the test as to quantity will be made. It is believed the well will furnish the Asylum with an ample supply of water for all purposes.

There is much in a reputation but more in the reality. We allude to the reputation the Franklin House, Clarksville, Tenn., has for first-class accommodations, and it can be truthfully said that she is equal in every particular to such reputation. The meals furnished at this popular house are excellent and special attention is given to all guests. Mr. Brighthouse, the proprietor, is a thorough hotel man and with an elegant gentleman, who sees to it that all are made comfortable and happy. This hotel is headquarters for the traveling public.

To The Trade of Christian and Adjoining Counties!

Having determined to make a change in my business next season, I am bound to sell my stock as near out as possible and in order to do that, I will place on sale today 25 pieces all wool Henriettas at 50 cents, these cloths you can't buy in any market for less than 85 or 90 cents; besides I have the best assortment of Fancy Dress Trimmings ever shown and they must go at a price to move them. I have about 15 pieces of all wool flannel suitings that are good value at 50c. but out they go at 35 Cents.

My Carpet sale I will continue for a few days longer to give those that want Carpets an opportunity to get them right down at New York cost less carriage; this is no Advertising Scheme but a bona fide Sale, if you doubt it, come and see and I am ready to show you that I mean business. I can save you money if you will come and price my goods. No trouble to show them.
